MEMORANDUM

FROM: Stephen Roberson, Environmental Analyst, Site Management

DATE: July 10, 1997

SUBJECT: MIDDLETON - Former Adhesive Manufacturer, School Street
Release Tracking No. 3-0168
Telephone Conversation with Victor Draghi

On July 10, 1997 at 8:45 a.m. I received a telephone call from Victor Draghi, President of Draghi Environmental Services, Inc. Mr. Draghi was calling to inform me of his company's recent activities at the above-referenced site.

Mr. Draghi stated that he had spent about three days organizing and characterizing drums of waste materials within the on-site building. He stated that there were approximately 200 drums within the building, most of which contained non-hazardous materials. Approximately 36 of the drums were found to contain waste oils and solvents. All of the drums were in deteriorated condition, and while Mr. Draghi did not observe any evidence of ongoing releases, he felt that the wastes would have to be transferred to other containers before being shipped for disposal off-site.

Mr. Draghi stated that his focus was on the drums and containers within the on-site building, and that he had not been asked to do anything with the additional drums that are held in truck trailers on the property. He stated that he intends to review the results of his characterization with the property owners in order to propose a work and cost plan for shipment of the wastes to an off-site disposal facility.

At my request, Mr. Draghi agreed to send me the results of the waste profiling, and to keep me informed of his future activities with respect to the site.
